ITCH – WHAT'S HOT ON THE RADAR

A BOOK FOR COOKS

If you're only going to fork out for one cook-book this festive season, make sure you get The Cook's Book (DK, $79.95) – and get it for yourself. Full of master classes and classics from the world's top chef, the updated release is like having a cooking school in a big beautiful hard-back. In bookstores November 23.

WHO WAS KARL KAST?

The mysterious tale of murderer Karl Kast, who went on a horrific rampage on Wickham Tce, in 1955, will be revealed in a Police Museum Sunday Talk on November 29. Madman? Demented? Intent on murder? Storyteller Jack Sim will fill you in at 11am, November 29, Police Museum, Police HQ, 200 Roma St, Brisbane. (Not for children.)

FREE BURGERS FOR MOVEMBER

Simon Crowe, founder of healthy burger maker Grill'd, intends to feed hungry Mo Bros for free until next Sunday, in support of charity fundraiser Movember. Registered Mo Bros, who have raised $25 or more, can get a free burger every day from 2pm-4pm and 8pm-10pm. Register at movember.com.au (conditions apply).

PICTURE PERFECT

MICK'S GOT THE BLUES

On the heels of Fleetwood Mac touring next month, band co-founder Mick Fleetwood has unleashed a new project, The Mick Fleetwood Blues Band, which will visit Oz in February to play blues-based Mac classics and new songs. Blue Again is out Friday. The band plays Riverstage, Brisbane, February 27. Ticketek 132 849.

SAM CLARK A SINGLE MAN

Logie-nodded Neighbour Sam Clark (otherwise known as Ringo) has gone the way of other former Neighbours and released a debut single. Called Broken, it's a taster to the 21-year-old singer/songwriter's first album, which is out in the New Year. See Clark sing Broken at 3pm on November 29 at HMV, Queen St Mall, Brisbane.

SERVED ON A PLATTER

Like a degustation menu, Matt Preston is serving up his favourite music in a 2CD collection, Music From Another Platter. Apparently, it's the music the MasterChef judge and food writer loves to eat to! Matt's favourite tracks are from artists as diverse as Eva Cassidy, The Lemonheads, Empire of the Sun and Pink. Out Friday.
